

Appearance

When you look at a frog, its skin should look moist. Some frogs like the Gray Tree Frog can camouflauge.

FROGS BY KALSHUK

Habitat and Diet

Did you know that frogs eat anything that fits into its mouth? Frogs prefer to live in large meadows or marshes. They live on every continent except Antarctica.

Predators

Wolf Spiders can run across water, grab a tadpole, run back and eat it. Some other predators are fish, turtles, water bugs, and birds.

Life Cycle

In the spring the female frog lays eggs in the water. The male frog puts sperm on the eggs which makes them grow into tadpoles. Only a few frogs live long enough to make the transformation from tadpole to frog.

Interesting Facts

Can you believe that frogs pop their eyes into their head and push the food into their digestive system? Unlike us, frogs breathe and drink water through their skin. There are 3,000 kinds of frogs in the world.

Bibliography

Ivy, Bill. Frogs. Grolier. 1986.

On The Go.

<http://www.shoreham.net/~dsonder/onthego.htm>. 2008.